

(POS 3703) Research Methods in Political Science
Fall 2019

Assignment 5:
Journals and Research in Political Science
(20 points)

Due Thursday, 21 November (in Canvas)

Each student has been assigned a year and volume in which they are to research the following journals: American Political Science Review (APSR) and American Journal of Political Science.

Responses must be typewritten and submitted via Canvas to be turned in at the time of class. The assignment is due the first five minutes of class. After that, assignments receive a 0. I will not accept emailed assignments. Each answer is worth 5 points.

For APSR, you will research the following questions:

1. What percentage of articles in each of these journals involves issues in the subfield of American politics, comparative politics, international relations, political philosophy and public administration/public policy?
2. What percentage of articles uses primarily a qualitative or quantitative method?

For AJPS, you will research the following questions:

1. What percentage of articles in each of these journals involves issues in the subfield of American politics, comparative politics, international relations, political philosophy and public administration/public policy?
2. What percentage of articles uses primarily a qualitative or quantitative method?
